2025 Spring Conference

Johnson Mfg Co.
114 Lost Grove Rd
Princeton, IA 52768

08:00 AM - 08:00 PM CST

Be sure to save the date for the 2025 Heavy-Duty Conference which will be hosted by Johnson Manufacturing Co. and held May 15-16, 2024 in the Quad Cities.

About our host company:

Johnson Manufacturing Company is a small business located in Princeton, Iowa, that focuses on the production of commercial and industrial solders and fluxes for soldering and brazing applications.

Johnson uses its exclusive vacuum casting process that reduces dirt, inclusions, oxidation, and segregation to produce solder billets which are then extruded to create our Tin-Lead, Lead-Free, Tin-Zinc, and Babbitt Solders in addition to many other small run and specialty alloys.

For more than 100 years, Johnson Manufacturing Co. has played a key role in the development of environmentally friendly fluxes, lead-free solders, and specially engineered tools. It all began with Johnson's Soldering Fluid in 1909, safer then as now, since it contains no free acid. Next came Johnson's Soldering Paste, still a favorite of many plumbers. Most recently, Johnson acquired the SA Day Manufacturing Company in Buffalo, NY and expanded their line of production fluxes for Copper/Brass Radiators and Tube Mills, while adding the DayRod with DayCoat Technology for Aluminum repair.

Today, Johnson Manufacturing is an ISO 9001:2015 certified manufacturer that provides over 100 different fluxes and alloys to many industries around the world.
